The Go-To Source for Youth Sports in New York City

New York Sports Connection is the most complete resource for youth sports teams, leagues, activities, facilities and anything NYC parents need to keep their kids active.

Started by a native New Yorker disappointed by the quality of information available to him and his son, no one has collected more knowledge on New York City athletics than we have.

Every day, thousands of parents trust New York Sports Connection as the place to find activities and information for their kids. They search our proprietary listings. They receive our Weekly Sports Alert. They read our articles. They come back again and again for the latest features.

You can reach this active and engaged audience, too. Reach out to info@newyorksportsconnection.com to talk about how we can connect you with New York City parents.
